An independent editorial platform for the people who decide how products are made, moved, sold, experienced and reused.

MISSION

To close the knowledge gap between regulation, technology and brand reality. CoCo turns dense developments in connected products and Digital Product Passports into conversations that executives can act on the same day.

VISION

A product economy in which every item carries its own story, provenance and proof. CoCo documents that transition as it happens, one conversation at a time, from first pilots to industry standard.

EDITORIAL PHILOSOPHY

Independent and technology agnostic. Practitioners over pundits, named experts over trend talk, specific frameworks over slogans. No pitches, no scripts, no sponsored opinions.

The industry doesn’t need more product pitches. It needs better conversations.

Connected products, Digital Product Passports and end-to-end traceability have moved from novelty to infrastructure. The regulation is written, the deadlines are set, and every brand now faces the same questions at the same time.

Yet most of what executives hear on the subject is a pitch. CoCo hosts the other conversation: independent, editorial and technology agnostic, so the whole industry can learn faster than any single vendor could take it.

Five convictions.

01 The physical product is only half the product. The other half is the data. Connected packaging turns the object into an experience and a data asset.

02 A Digital Product Passport is not compliance paperwork. It is a strategic enabler for storytelling, engagement, reporting and supply chain intelligence.

03 Connected packaging has moved from gimmick to infrastructure. The novelty of 2018 is the regulatory requirement of 2030.

04 The biggest blockers are not technical. They are knowledge gaps, budget misalignment and internal silos. CoCo closes the knowledge gap.

05 From farm to fork and farm to closet, traceability is no longer optional. Brands that act now build the moat of tomorrow.

What we cover.

Why guests say yes.

01 Professional preparation

A structured pre-call and a research dossier long before anyone presses record.

02 Editorial briefing

Themes and questions agreed in advance. A real conversation, never an ambush.

03 Thought leadership

A long-form platform for your perspective, told in your own words and at full depth.

04 Cross promotion

Every episode is amplified across CoCo’s channels and yours.

05 Executive audience

Heard by the people who own these decisions inside global brands.

06 Evergreen discoverability

Episodes keep finding new listeners long after the release week.

07 Professional production

Recorded remotely, edited and mastered to broadcast standard.

08 Highlight reels

Short-form cuts prepared for LinkedIn, internal channels and events.

Meet the hosts.

Stefan Hilss

CO-HOST · MANAGING DIRECTOR, LINKED2BRANDS · JANOSCHKA GROUP

Stefan Hilss has spent three decades inside the packaging value chain, from prepress to production, across international leadership roles in the Janoschka Group. As Managing Director of Linked2Brands, he puts that operational depth to work for brands entering the connected era. A regular speaker at European industry forums, he is the pragmatic counterpoint in every episode: the voice asking how it will actually get made.

Güneri Tugcu

HOST · GLOBAL DIRECTOR, STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS & ECOSYSTEMS · CNCT BY R-PAC

Güneri Tugcu has spent 26 years where technology meets brand integrity, with senior roles at Amazon, Digimarc and SGK before building the global partner ecosystem at CNCT by r-pac. A leading European voice on connected packaging and the Digital Product Passport, he speaks at industry events from EuroShop to Tokyo Pack and writes for MoreThanDigital.info. On CoCo, he asks what brands ask behind closed doors.

Between them, more than fifty years inside Amazon, Digimarc, SGK and the Janoschka Group.
